They are on their way to Hawaii and Alaska, and have spent the past two weeks on their trip across the country. They had planned their trip through the Yellowstone Park on horseback, which was abandoned at the last moment, and they made it in the regular manner of sightseers. New Police Clerk Awaits
Papers Before Assuming Position.

Edwin B. Hesse, the newly appointed chief clerk and property clerk of the Police Department, will take the oath of office and assume his official duties as soon as the papers are forwarded from the Commissioners to Major Sylvester. The appointment of Mr. Hesse to fill the vacancy caused by the dropping of J. Arthur Kemp, the alleged defaulter, chief clerk, from the rolls, has met with general satisfaction.

Still Examining Accounts.

The work of examining the accounts of Kemp being continued, and it is expected the exact amount of the shortage will be known in a few days. Major Sylvester said today that a further examination of the records indicates that the total will not be more than $7,000, although the amount may run as high as $7,500.

With the sending out of 5,000 cards with a photograph and description of Kemp, Inspector Boardman yesterday completed the work of setting in operation the drag net that will extend to every section of the country. The chief of police of every free delivery city in the United States will receive within the next two or three days a minute description of the missing clerk, and police all over the country will be on the lookout for him.

Think He Is in West.

Detective Weedon went to Philadelphia yesterday, but returned this morning.

Many of the missing man's friends are of the opinion that he is in the West. This theory is based on the fact that he often remarked that he would like to buy a farm in the vicinity of Denver and settle in that part of the country. The police, however, are sticking to the theory that he went to Philadelphia from Washington, and is either in hiding in that city or has sailed for some foreign country.

TRUST BUSTERS
AT LUNCH TODAY
WITH PRESIDENT

Edinburgh, Scotland, July 9.—The Earl of Roslyn has been sued for divorce by his American wife. The Roslyns met on the stage. The earl, once a lieutenant in the Royal Horse Guards, and an officer in the English force which relieved Ladysmith, was driven by poverty to work; first as a war correspondent in South Africa and later as an actor. He gained distinction, too, as a turf plunger, and the inventor of a "system" by which he believed he could break the bank at Monte Carlo. The "system" failed.

The countess was Anna Robinson, a daughter of George Robinson, of Minneapolis. Beginning as an artist's model, she took up theatrical work, and though not a great actress, won fame for her remarkable beauty.

Former Postmaster W. R. Willcox, of New York, who resigned to head the New Public Utilities Commission, also had a conference with the President regarding the selection of his successor. The President's lunch guests included W. D. Miller, a scientist, connected with the American Museum of Natural History.

NEW MINT DIRECTOR
NOT YET SELECTED

Secretary Cortelyou this morning denied the statement published yesterday that he had decided to appoint Frank A. Leach, superintendent of the San Francisco mint, as director of the United States mint, in place of George E. Roberts, who tendered his resignation last Saturday. According to Secretary Cortelyou, no successor has been chosen to Director Roberts, nor will there be a choice made for some time.

SMALLEST OF REPUBLICS.

San Marino is the smallest republic in the world. It has but twenty-two square miles, but has a population of 8,500. Its annual revenues are $15,000. Its army has 900 soldiers and 150 officers.

Lenox Guests
Have Sport in Gymkhana Races

The summer residents of Lenox and the Berkshire Hills journeyed to Pittsfield on Saturday afternoon for the grotesque and amusing gymkhana thereabouts, from time to time, when there are plenty of men settled there, to take the lead. The games were not as picturesque as they have been in former years. They were given in the shadow of South mountain to the south of the Tom Scheick homestead. It is well remembered that the last time they were given Miss Josephine Durand, daughter of the then British ambassador to this country, was among the riders. On Saturday Miss Emily Bacon, niece of the Assistant Secretary of State, Robert Bacon, captured one of the prizes, that in the "ride to lady with doll and dress," which consisted of a pair of riders, David T. Dana, master of the Berkshire hunt, and Miss Bacon, in which Mr. Dana dismounted in the middle of the ride, and Miss Bacon quickly and deftly sewed the dress on the doll, and they continued their circuit, arriving at the stake first. Another stunt was the riding up and down the course rapidly, each rider carrying a lemon on a spoon, the only one finishing with the lemon still on the spoon being Miss Katherine Peck, of Pittsfield, who, of course, won the first prize.

Still another was the race with jumps over three hurdles, the riders trying to throw potatoes into a bucket, the only one succeeding being David T. Dana. The feat of holding a glass of water while jumping three hurdles, although extremely difficult, was accomplished by Mr. Dana and Charles Astor Bristol, who rode as a pair and arrived at the starting point with more water in their glasses than any of the others. Dr. Dana also won the prize for the "ride to lady with thread, needle, and button; lady to sew button on rider's cap, the two to return to start."

One of the most unique of the figures was the holding of baskets of potatoes by the female partners, the others riding by, stopping, and removing their saddles, grabbing as many potatoes as possible and returning as fast as possible to the starting point, riding bareback. Mr. Cutting and Mrs. Bonal won. Still another humorous event was serving the methods employed in the quarters of Lieutenant Neel in Carr Hall. His guests were Colonel Macomb, Ward, Hoyle, Adams, Finley, Major Lewis, and Captains Cameron, Hartman, Short, Case, Conner, and Lieutenants Callahan, Cretchua, Howell, and Neel, the last four being officers of the Mexican army.

In the last event each rider rode to his partner whistling a tune, and soon as he recognized it he had the circuit and returned to the start. Mr. Burden arrived first after whistling to Miss Schenck, but as his horse failed to take a hurdle he was disqualified and Mr. Dana, who whistled to Miss Bacon, was first.

George Langdon Whitford has returned from a two weeks' visit to his summer home at Waterloo, N. H.

The friends of Miss Nellie Jennison gave her an old-fashioned country straw ride to Forest Glen. From Forest Glen they went to Brightwood, where a half for refreshments was made. They returned to Takoma late last night. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Walker, the Misses Grall, Jennison, Cole, Watkins, and White, and Messrs. Adams, Platt, Terlinger, Fraser, and Smith.

The friends of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Leach were delightedly entertained at the latter's residence on Chestnut street last evening. Many interesting games were played and refreshments were served. Among the guests were Colonel and Mrs. Crandall, Mrs. Tyler, Mrs. Kenny, Mrs. Siers, Mrs. Simmons, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Smith, and Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Leach.

Capt. and Mrs. Warren C. Beach have arrived in St. Regis, as usual, are at the United States Hotel.

Mrs. Caroline King and Miss Abbie King are at Gaithersburg, Md., for the summer.

EARL OF ROSLYN
SUED FOR DIVORCE

Suit was instituted today by John Watson for divorce from his wife, Elizabeth Watson. The petition states that the couple were married on December 6, 1901, at Laramie, Wyo., and that shortly thereafter the petitioner came to Washington to accept a position as watchman in the Interior Department, leaving his wife in Laramie. Sums of money were sent to Mrs. Watson at different times, continues the petition, and when asked by the petitioner to come to Washington, she refused. A divorce is asked on the grounds of desertion.

The other wreck victims confined at the hospital are gradually convalescing and some of them will be dismissed the boarders of the week.

Merritt's Hotel, one square away, the boarders who have quarters in the house have to climb out of doors over the blocks and tackle of the movers. So full are Woodbury boarding houses that no other accommodations were available while the house is in transit. The house will be made an annex of the hotel.

The American Ambassador to Germany and Mrs. Charlesmagne Tower have gone from Berlin to Kiel for the Kaiser's annual regatta week. They were accompanied by the naval attaché of the American embassy, Lieutenant Commander Howard. It was reported that Admiral Stockton's cruiser squadron, which is due at Bordeaux, was en route to Kiel, but Commander Howard does not expect that their itinerary will permit the Kaiser's annual regatta to arrive at Kiel in time for the week's festivities. The Ambassador and Mrs. Tower have chartered a handsome steam yacht for the week and will entertain a half dozen parties during that time. Fewer Americans than usual have arrived there, though Cornelius Vanderbilt and his mother and sister are expected.

"I know that Dean is not to blame in this," she said, "and I have forgiven him. He was always a good husband to me, and if it depends on my testimony to convict him, he will go free. I do not intend to go to Baltimore to testify for several reasons. One is that I do not wish to be in the same room with this other woman who has broken up my home. I am afraid that I could not control myself and would not want to create a scene."

Mrs. Jackson with difficulty restrained the tears at times during her narrative, especially when speaking of the tender love her husband had always borne her until this cloud entered her life. Playing in the yard at the time of the interview with a Times reporter, was the three-year-old son of the two, a bright youngster whom Mrs. Jackson said "looked just like his father."

Just at this juncture the morning mail arrived bearing a summons from the criminal court of Baltimore asking that Mrs. Jackson appear in that city tomorrow morning as a witness for the State against her husband. Mrs. Jackson said, however, that she was beyond the jurisdiction of the Maryland courts and had no desire to assist in her husband's undoing. She returned from Baltimore about three weeks ago, where she had a short conference with her husband, during which the case was little discussed, however, on account of the presence of jail officials.

Case Comes Up Tomorrow.
Jackson will be arraigned in Baltimore tomorrow at 10 o'clock. It is charged that he married Miss Shreve, of Washington, in 1903, a child resulting from the union. In April of last year he is charged with having married Miss Edna Evans, of Hartford avenue, Baltimore, by whom he has also had a child. Jackson was employed by the Pennsylvania railway, and it is alleged divided his time between his Washington and Baltimore wives, according to the city in which his lay-over occurred on each run.

It is understood that the first Mrs. Jackson's family will interpose no serious objections to the reunion in event some of my friends have endeavored to turn me against him, but I will take him back the moment he is free. I have been miserable since he was placed under arrest, and at times it seems as though my heart would break.
